Phase 1978

Saint Joseph's College Rensselaer, Indiana

Saint Joseph's-

a small college with room to grow-

space to think, to breathe,
to become whatever we dream of being.

We come to learn,

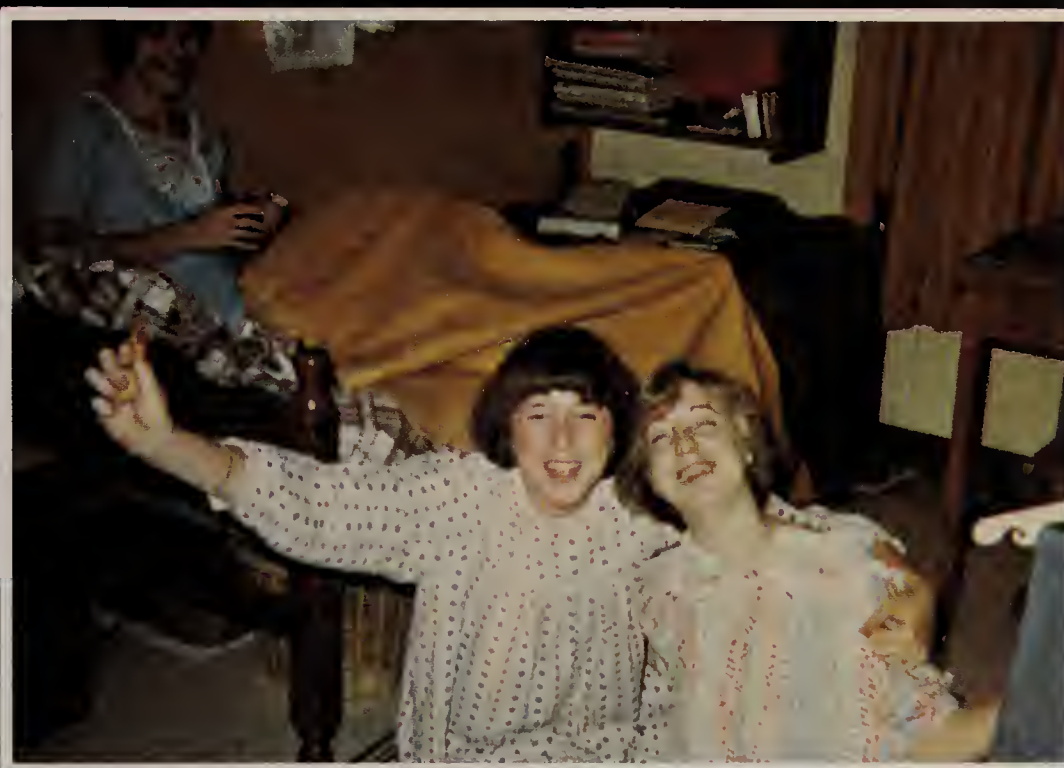

and to practice being people.

We come from all over the U.S. and even the world. Why?? . . .

because here in Rensselaer
we have room to be stars.

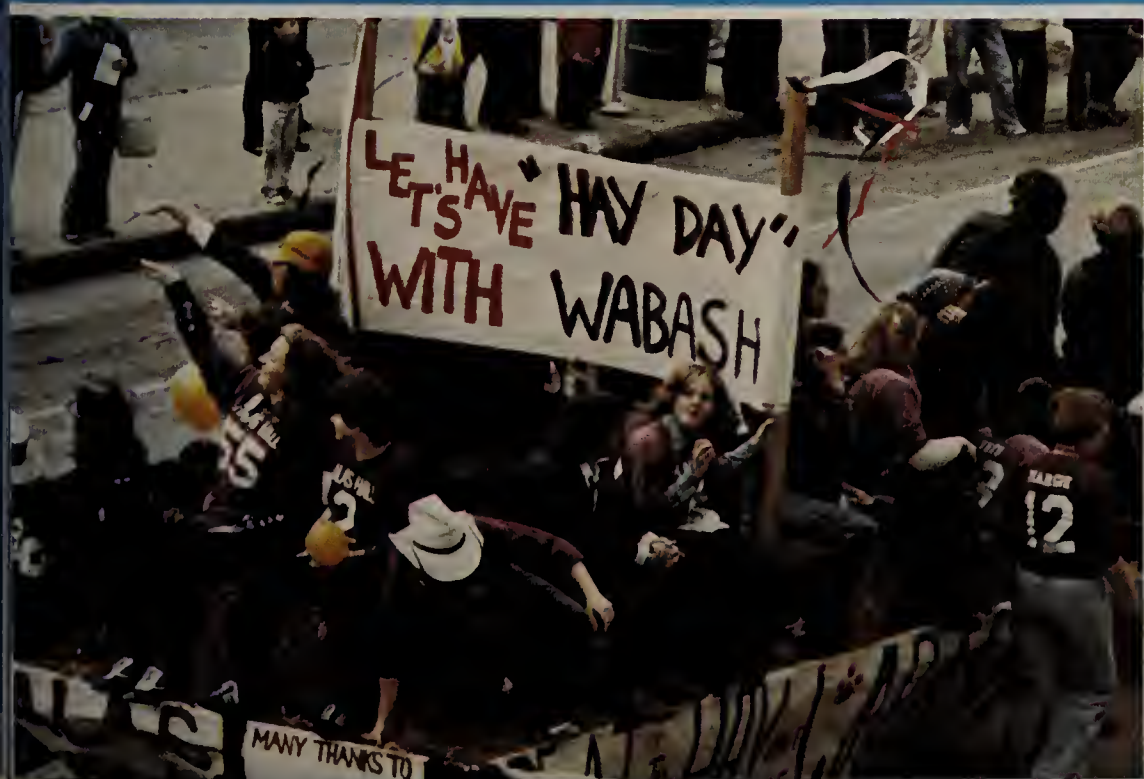

Each person is a star in his own special way, whether as a leader, a doer, or a planner.

In the cornfields
along I-65, we have room
and time to explore-

to discover that special talent inside ourselves.

Each one of us can excel somehow.

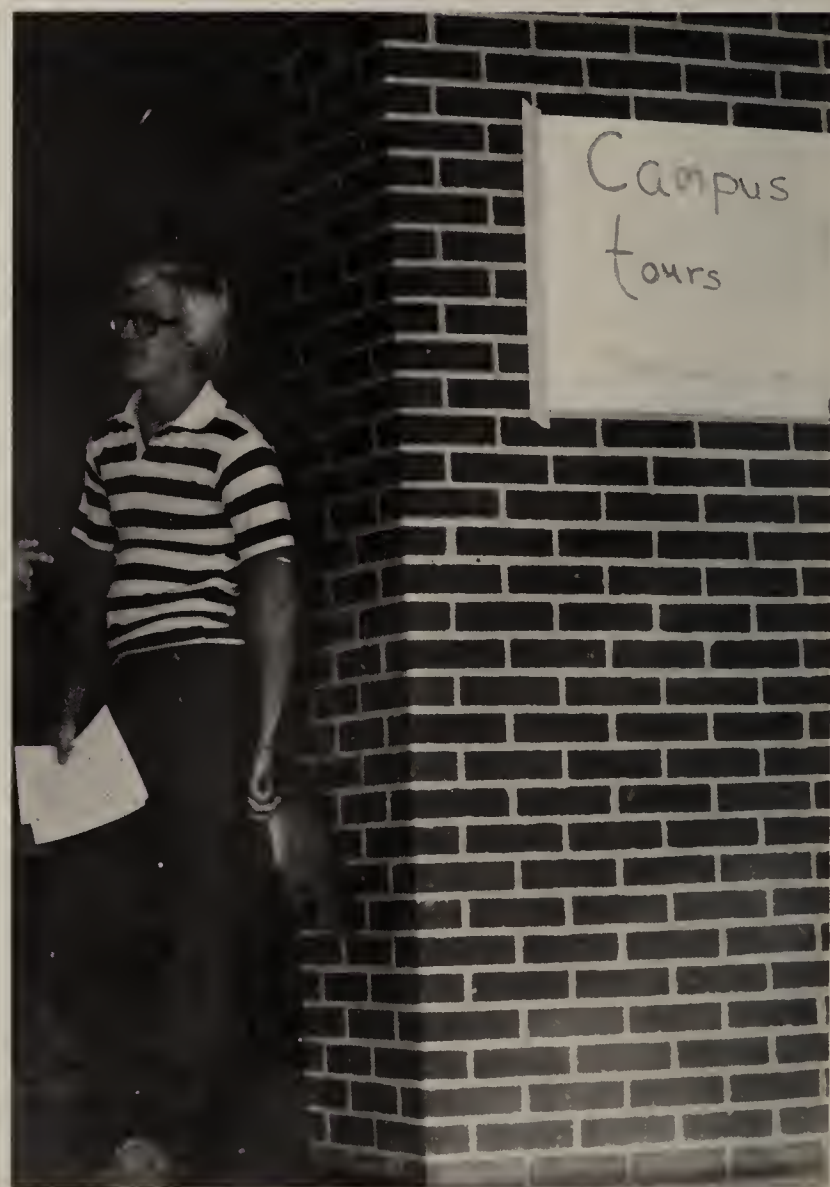

We come to Saint Joe's to find out what it's like to be a star.

Phase One

In The Beginning. . .

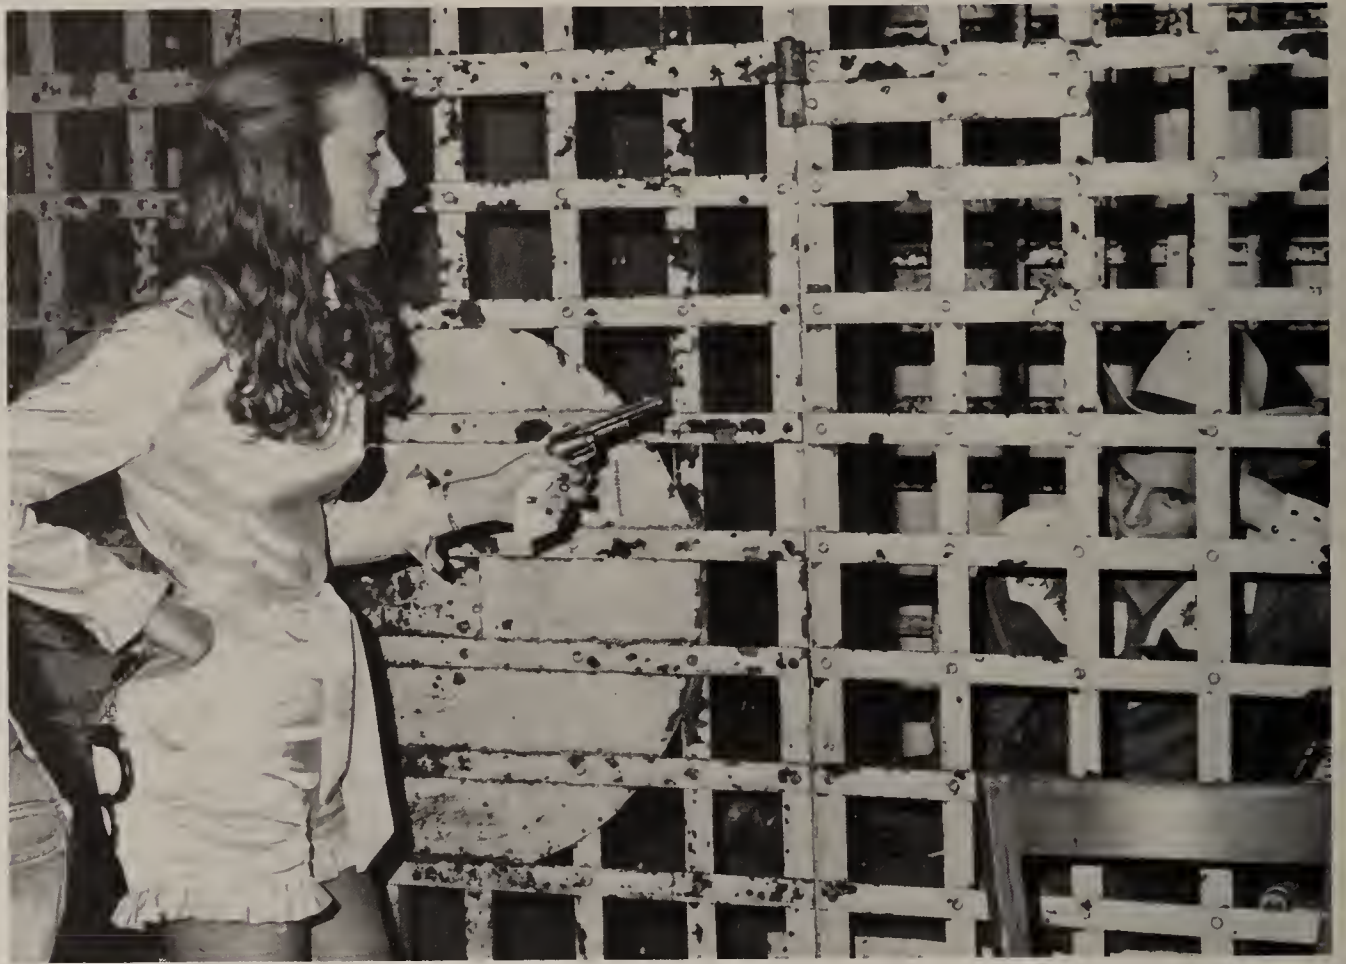

Everything is confusing. You are assigned a group and handed a schedule. You ask yourself "Why?" Why are you here and is it all worthwhile? . . .and then you meet a friend and by sharing your confusion you manage to straighten everything out. Before long, you're calling this your home.

Monte Carlo Weekend

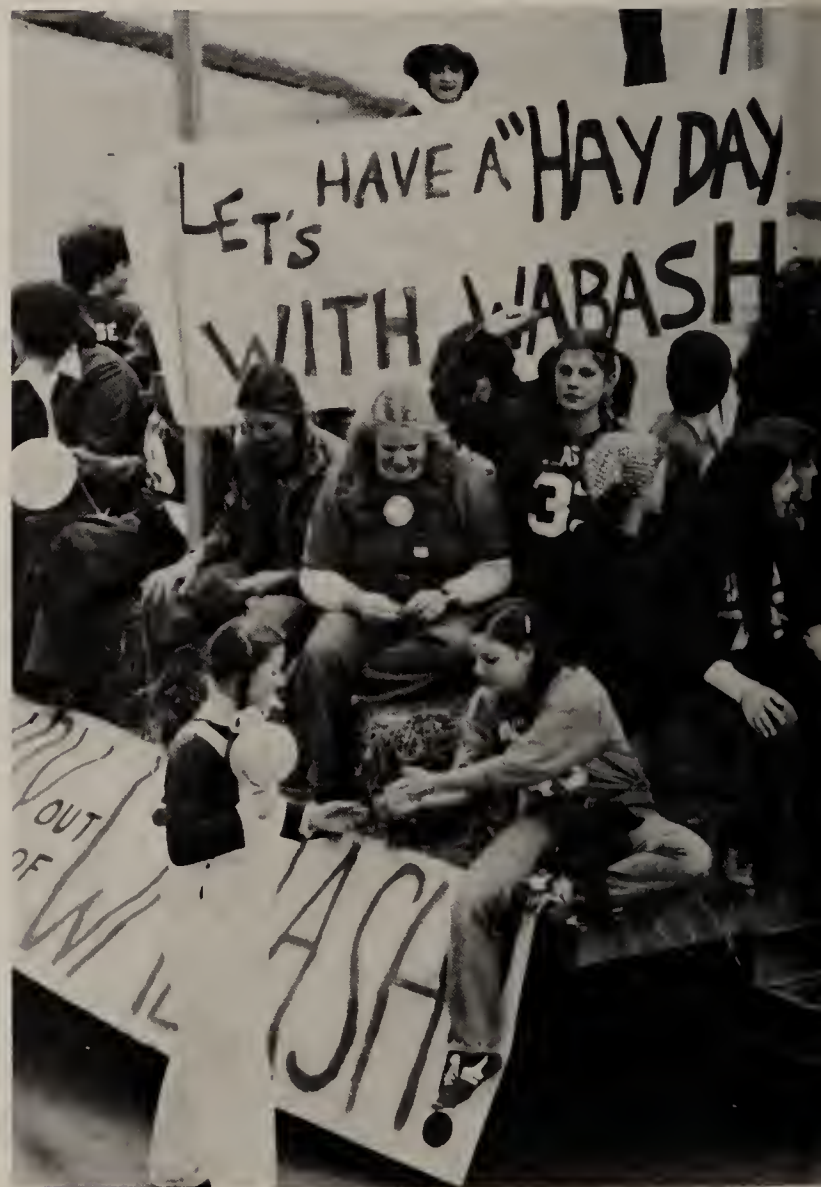

"You just can't trust anyone!"

Homecoming '77

At last all the planning, hard work and anticipation give way to the excitement and pride of the day . . . the parade, the game, the queens and their courts, all the festivities of Homecoming.

Homecoming Court

Front Row: Mara Pindell, Queen Irene Farrell and Dawn Feely.
Back Row: Dee Conroy, Lori Franklin and Jeanne Hartnett.

Halloween

Greaser Weekend

Nostalgia has become tradition. One weekend a year we break out the saddle shoes and bear grease and recreate the era we all long to have been a part of . . . and the world twists on.

“Low”-lights I

What made 1977 different from 1976? Or from any other year? On a discouraging day, you sometimes feel like there's no way to mark the passage of time from one week to the next, especially when you're surrounded by the endless Rensselaer cornfields.

Throughout semester one, there were many small events that weren't very "significant," but that helped keep track of those fleeting days and caused us to say . . . "That was the weekend that . . ." or . . . "they were painting the water tower then . . ." . . . "Core XI had just opened." "I had just seen that guy from the soap opera." "It was after the sophomore hay ride." "Gallagher was having the floor hockey marathon." . . .

. . . "Larry Garrett, the hypnotist, had just made believers of half the student body — well, at least Kent." . . . or . . . "That was the day of fall follies . . ."

Sports

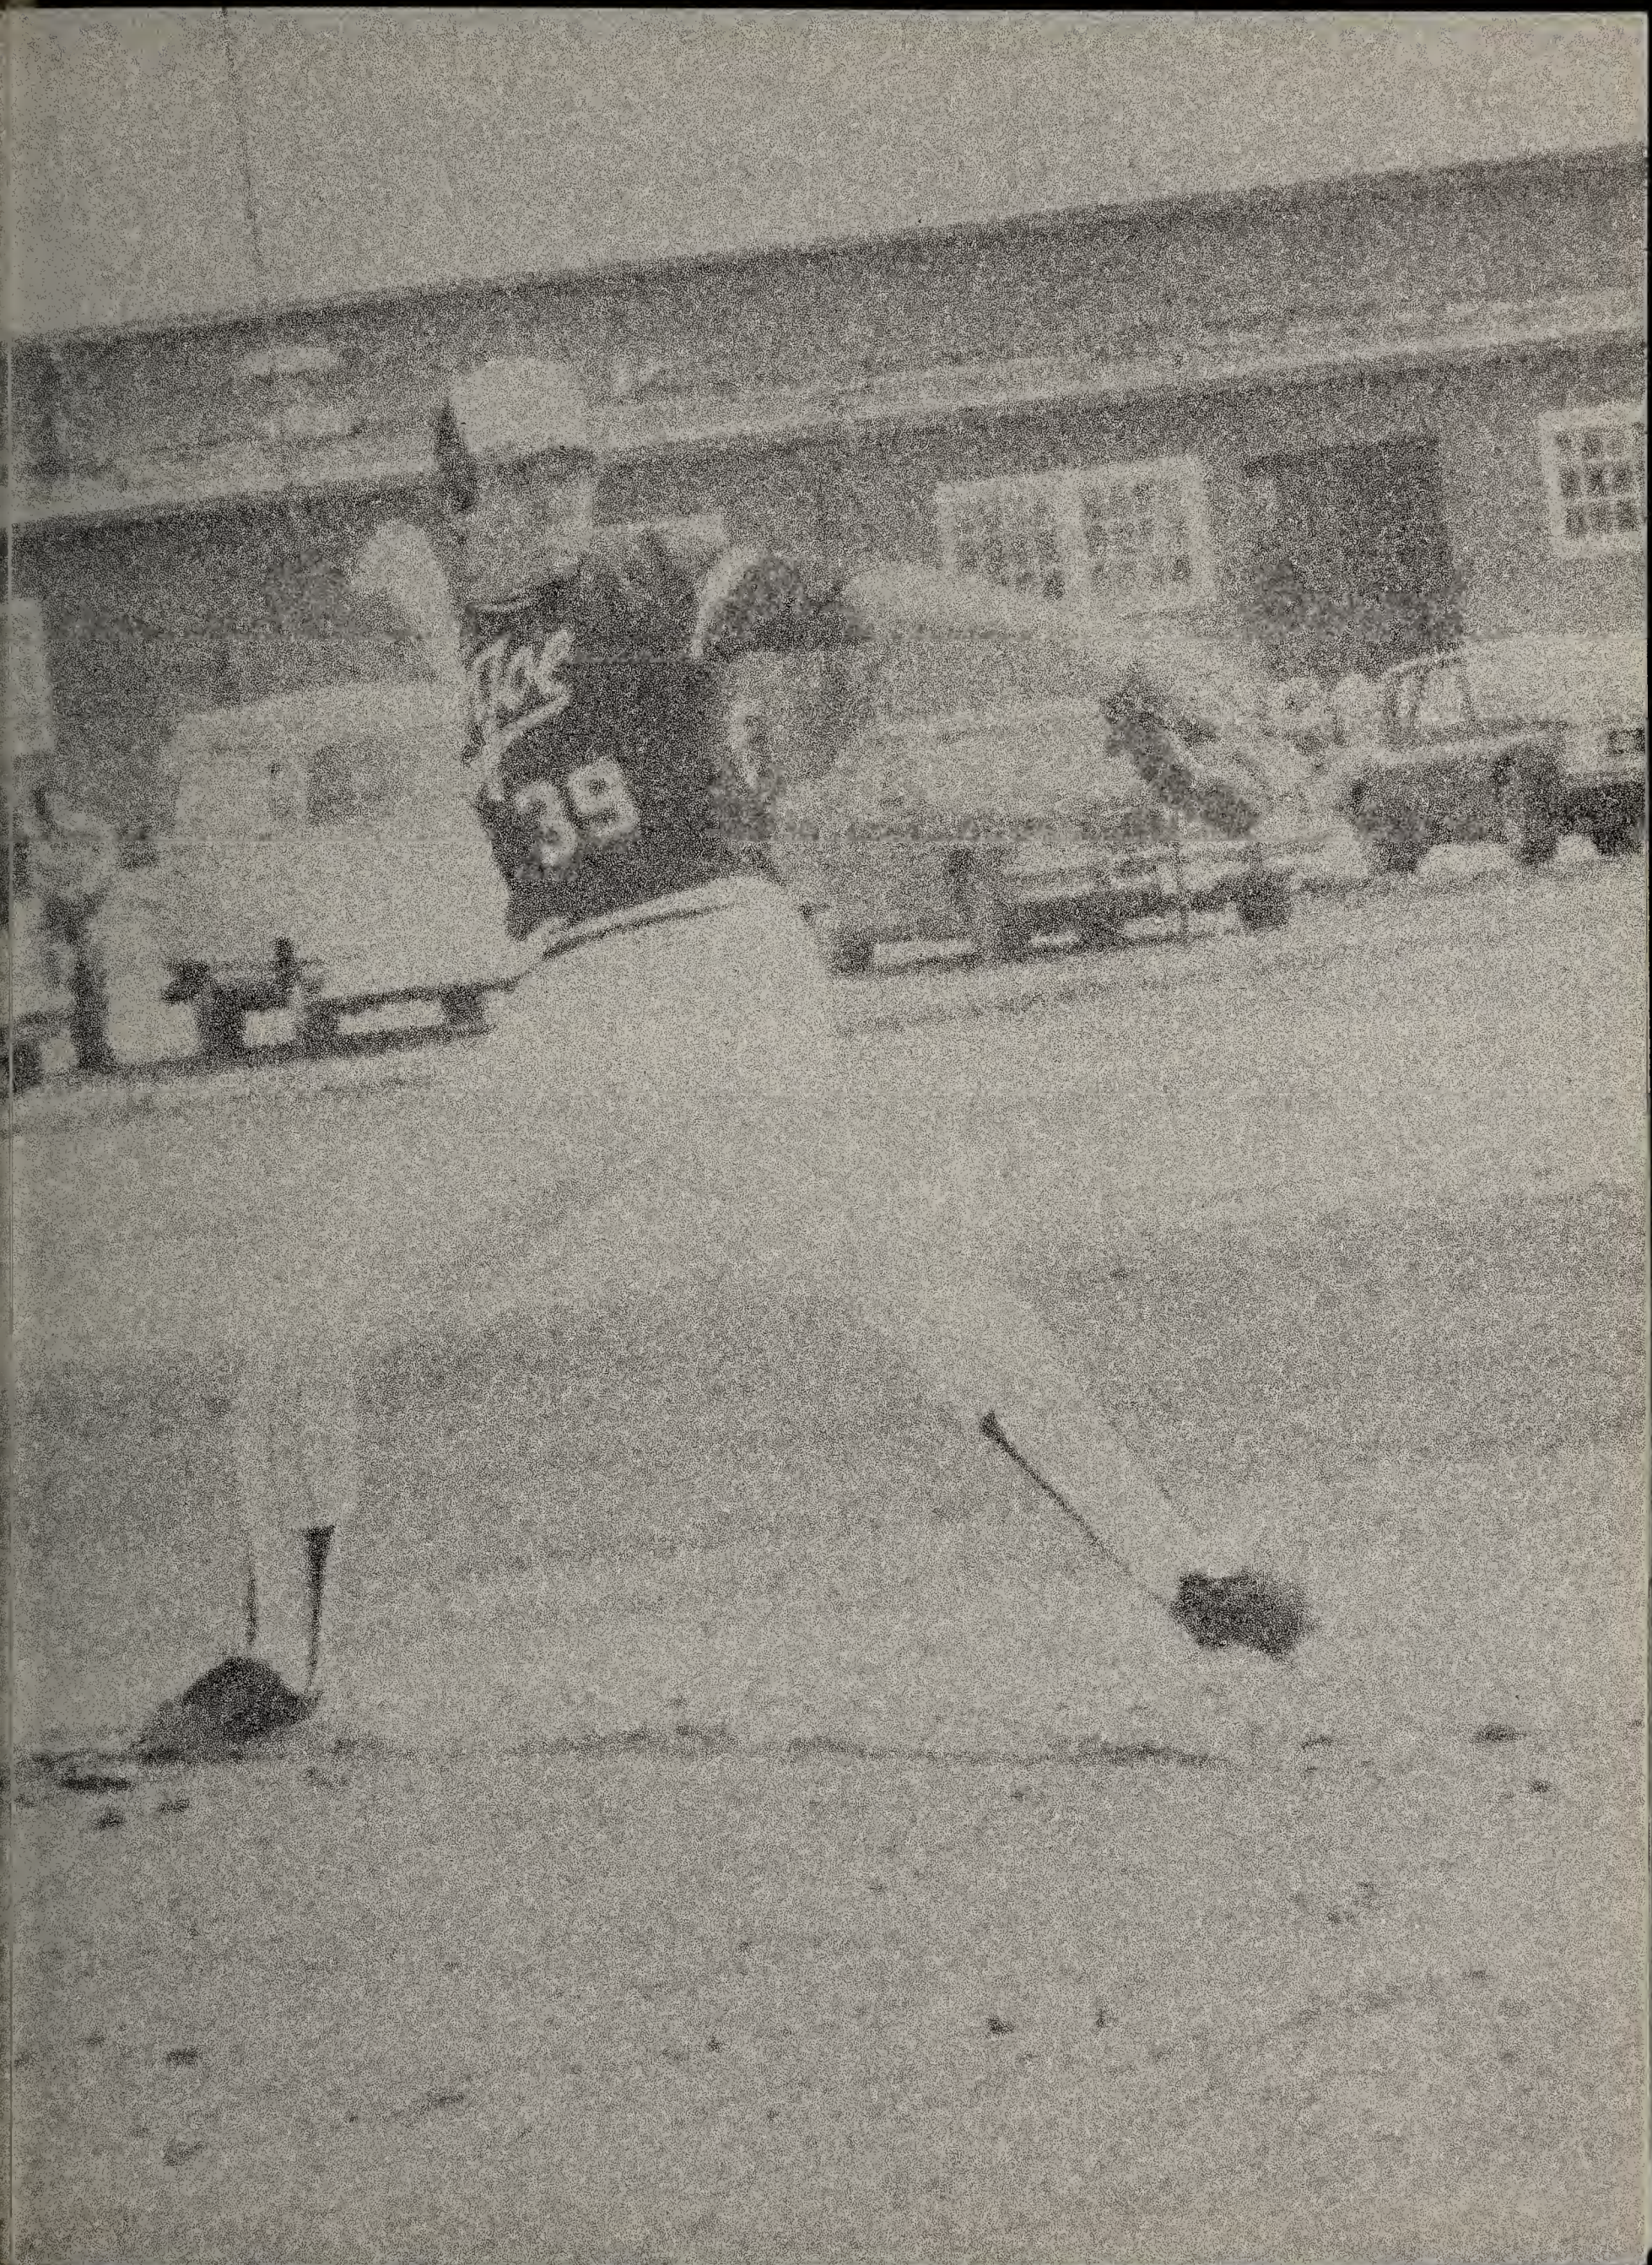

Baseball

Puma Pride and Puma Power have always been the keys to our success in baseball. Hard work, determination and stamina provide our diamond athletes with just what they need to "fight for Saint Joe's."

Men's Basketball

Coach Waggoner wore the victory grin often this year. Fans watched the Puma cagers swish into action at the beginning of the season and continue a swift running and jumping, dunking and dribbling game to the last. There were some unique memories for the players — a flurry of game cancellations due to winter snowstorms and a four-night "vacation" spent stranded in a hotel conference room. And all of us will remember the plane crash that brought death to the Evansville team that always was a formidable rival.

Downey shows how easy it is.

Alright already, you can have it!

Intramurals

Sports at St. Joe's do not end at the intercollegiate level. A very important, and never-taken-for-granted aspect of SJC is the intramural program. From the first kickoff at the IM fields, to the last out on the "library diamond," students compete—some for fun of it, and some for the trophies. Whatever the reason, it is always fun to participate in and even more fun to watch.

Phase Two

Mardi Gras!!

"If I were you . . ."

"You can't even trust the senior class president!"

A winning smile?

"Over or under"

Little 500

One thing that can be said about this year's Little 500 race is that it was exciting(??)! After three race-starts, with as many accidents, the race finally ended with all but five karts finishing. First place went to Ken Coffey in his kart, "Short People".

*“And coming down
 the straightaway
 . . . It’s Short
 People!!!”*

"Car 22 is out on turn three!"

. . . That Merlini turn . . . The crowds gather there every year. They know that's where all the action will be . . .

This year was no different . . .

“Low”-Lights II

Semester Two also had its small events to help break up the monotony and pass the time. Do you recall . . .

. . . elections . . .

. . . “short” invaders . . .

. . . the start of the murals . . .

. . . Third Gallagher at its best . . .

. . . Sunday afternoon tournaments of chess, bridge and—scrabble(?) . . .

. . . or . . . mediocre judges? . . .

Clubs And Organizations

We learn early in our freshman year that "politics" and government are an integral part of St. Joe's. It starts with the freshman elections in the beginning of the year and reaches its peak with SA elections at the end of the year. Some candidates win because they had the money to "xerox" more and some win because of their catchy phrases. But no matter the reason for winning, once a candidate gets an office, he better take it seriously.

Faculty And Administration

Faculty - they've been called a lot of things by a lot of people: teachers, profs, slave-drivers . . . but whatever we call them, we've managed to build up a two-way relationship.

The only truly complete teaching situation is one where both prof and puma teach as well as learn.

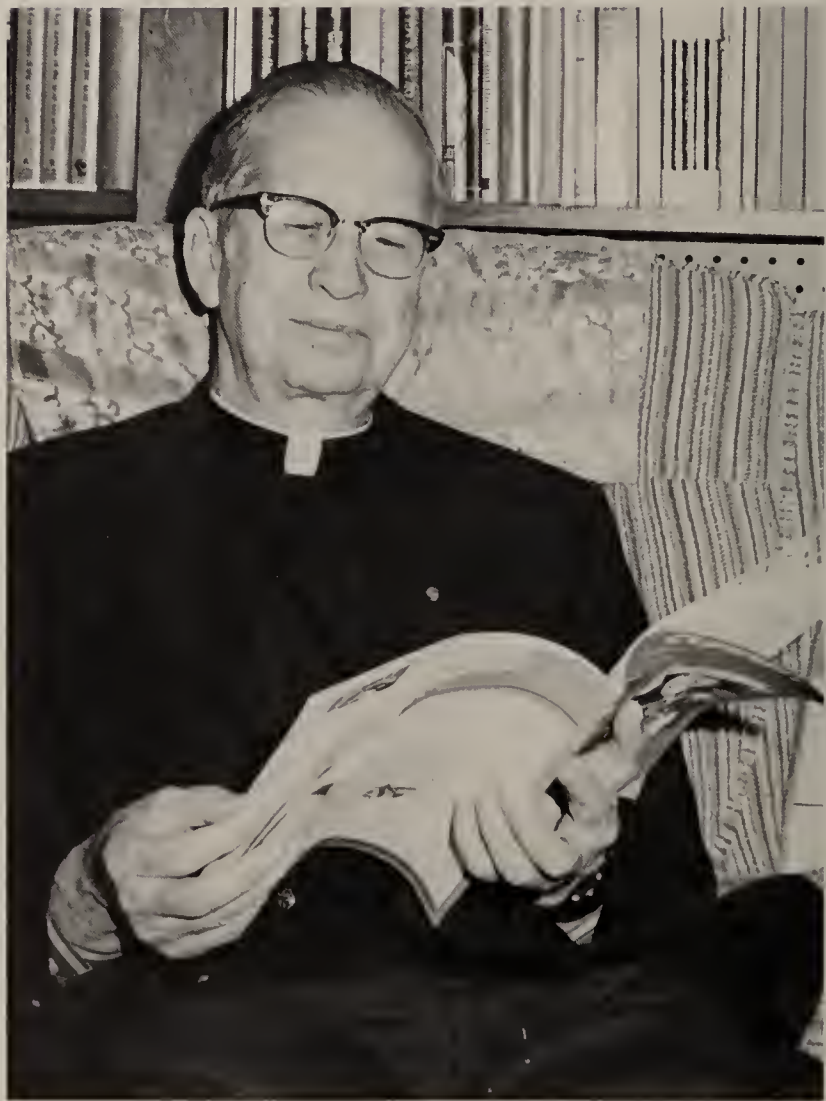

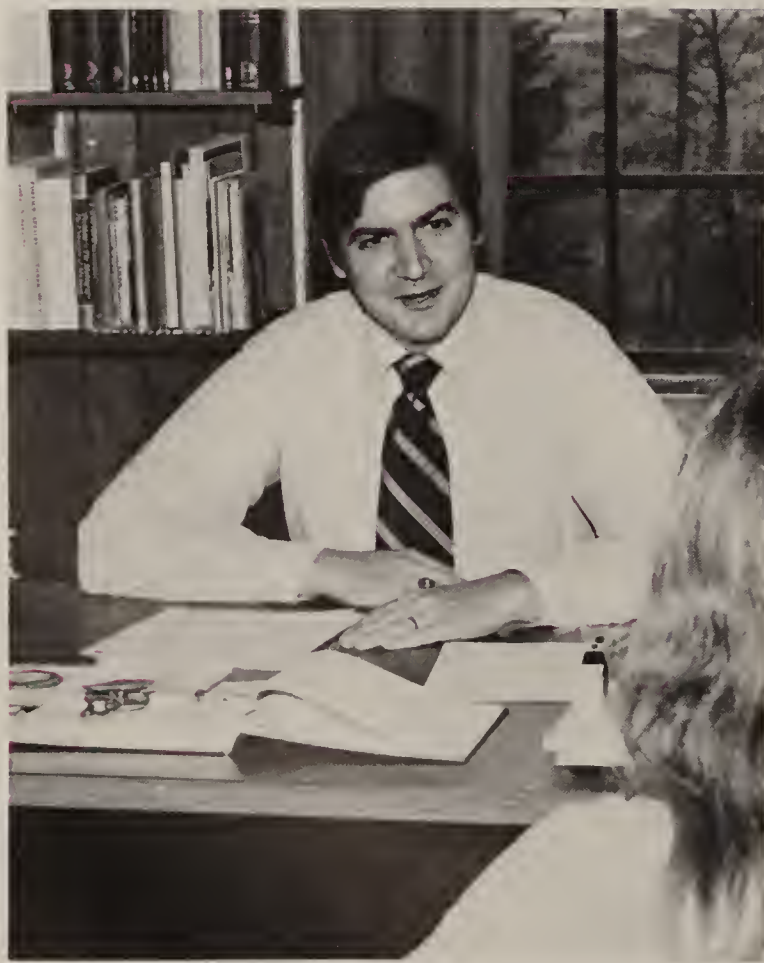

Teaching at SJC is more than a job - it's a belief, a concern, a type of love.

Graduation

Four years . . . not really that long, except when those four years are the years spent at St. Joe's . . . then they capture a lifetime. Graduation is the end of those four years . . . the last time to be together as a class . . . the last time to be "close" to so many friends.

Looking for the missing dorm pictures.

Everyone has got to be a critic.

In 1912, Father Gilbert Esser came to Saint Joseph's College as a student. Two years later, in 1914, his brother, Father Rufus, joined him. Since then the two brothers have given over ninety years of their lives to SJC.

Father Gilbert retired in 1976. He lives in Schwieterman Hall. His brother, Father Rufus, died September 30, 1977. After teaching fifty-one years, Father Rufus held the record of longevity in faculty service at SJC.

It is to these two brothers, who cared so much for Saint Joseph's and its students, that this book is dedicated.

"I found the best way to motivate students was to show them I was myself enthusiastic about and interested in material for a given course. If you're interested in what you teach, you can pass this interest along to students."

Father Rufus Esser, May, 1977

"I always reminded my students that they are on their way to the future and must keep their ultimate goals in mind. Today's student is tomorrow's professional, and college is a good indicator of what degree of success will follow later in life."

Father Gilbert Esser, May, 1977
